

DOT IN THE CIRCLE.

With Dot in the circle, PMB has triggered many postings and retweets (ironic, defiant, outraged, etc.) that show that something was emotionally touched.

Its never-ending theming in the social media stimulates a closer look.

PMB says DOT in the circle, using it to describe Igboland as an insignificant point. Surrounded by the circle (rest of Nigeria) that encloses the point. Intended associations of the enclosure are likely to be: domination, landlock, famine genocide and annihilation (déjà vu, 3.1 million deaths according to a count by late Herbert Ekwe-Ekwe).

Of course, this is a eerie threat because of the growing tendencies towards autonomy in Nigeria (as a reaction to the Fulanization). PMB wants to divert attention from the fact that desires for autonomy will be pan-Nigerian and claims it is only in Igboland.

In addition, PMB would like to eliminate Igboland to a pointless point (a oxymoron).

Of course, it is clear to everyone that the point has been an area (Biafra) for about half a century, and the area of the desire for autonomy has recently grown too rapidly now occupies almost all of Nigeria. A recently published map by NINAS shows this succinctly.

However, I do not want to unload a historical, political or geographical essay here, but rather enrich the non-waning theming in the social media with my own free-floating consideration. Similar to the proverbs linked with association bridges (whose inherent knowledge and wisdom has recently been valued by ethnologists etc.). I want to take a stroll down the chain of associations from DOT in the circle.

So let's start our walk .:

A little meditation on the meaning of his statement shows THAT PMB can no longer hide that he is seeing "something". But he wants to eliminate something as a point.

In his genocidal fantasy of encircling and destroying something insignificant, the inside of his skull celebrates an orgy of fear and hatred.

In a modern society, he would be a candidate for prison psychiatry. Without genocide practice, he would at least still be a candidate for psychoanalytic study. As a Wahhabi Stalin, Freud's couch has no place in his view of the world and he has no place on it. The only thing that connects Freudianism is the excessive emphasis on libido, which social media reports at PMB say is strongly pronounced, but which even more drives him off the Freudian couch in the other room. And the libido is one of the steam engines of his Wahhabi cousins (along with greed, fear, hatred), regardless of whether their victims are slaughtered or taken as sex slaves.

In and for the citizen state, PMB is therapy-resistant. He has a different worldview and belongs to a different era.

Pity! A good therapist might have made it clear to him that his fear-hate psychosis on the apparently insignificant DOT actually stems from the fact that the DOT is of overwhelmingly great power.

With further progress in therapy, PMB might even have come to the conclusion that the mighty DOT would not eat him.

Now PMB is not a patient in a bourgeois individual therapy presentation, but rather an item on the agenda for the ICC in The Hague due to its collective effect.

In any case, Western citizen ideas do not help us to understand PMB's dynamics. We are therefore turning our gaze away from his instinctual structure to his fantasy product, the DOT in the circle. Their simple, elementary symbolism appeals to a small picture meditation with excursions into associations.

So let's turn to the phenomenology of the geometric appearance of DOT IN THE CIRCLE!

From a geometrical point of view, it is not that the circle defines the point. It's the other way around. First is the point, the DOT. There is something different from that (Derrida might have called it Différance). There is even an infinite number of things that differ from the DOT. It is the set of all points that spatially differ from the DOT. DOT and all points together form the entire plane.

You can now take a pair of compasses and set it to a certain level. With the compass you now mark the amount of all points on the plane that are the specified distance to the DOT. This is the circle. So first comes the DOT, then the need for distance, then the circle. DOT in the circle. The DOT, not the circle, is therefore the primary one (strictly speaking, one would have to speak of a circle around the DOT).

It can be assumed that DOT in the circle was found and used worldwide at all times as one of the most elementary geometric archetypes (another is the connection of two points with a straight line).

Further constructions and findings led to geometry, which was taken to extremes by the ancient Greeks. Can Greek geometry tell us something about the meaning of n say DOT in the circle? Let us consider Greek geometry from the outside.

The ancient Greeks went essentially beyond such elementary constructions in three respects:

- 1) Geometry was instrumental in bringing pre-Socratic forms of thought to the heyday of Greek philosophy. And even after that, geometry (along with its own subject of research) was always part of the preparatory course for philosophy training (especially for the elite).
- 2) The language of geometry enabled the development of the CONCLUSION CALCULUS, with which Euclid wrote his book "Elements" around 300 BC. To this day, his book amazes how it was the first to build an exact science, and how it was able to derive and prove statements from a limited store of definitions, postulates and axioms.

The learning of correct reasoning was then also one of the prerequisites for successful philosophy.

- 3) The ancient Greeks went much further with their geometric constructions than what is practiced in today's primary and secondary schools in terms of geometric constructions.

APPOLONIUS VON PERGA (265-190 BC) proves in his book "Conics" by means of the Euclidean concentrated argumentation a large number of theorems about conic sections.

The scholars of Hausa of their legendary kingdoms (before they were destroyed by Dan Fodio and liquidated by the British with the made-up word Hausa-Fulani) knew the Conics. In the time-honored Timbuktu manuscripts (Library of Timbuktu, since 1200 AD) there are comments on "Sashin Conic Algebra" (Hausa for conic sections).

Unless the PMB's cousin, the Sahelian jihadists, torch all the remains of the Timbuktu manuscripts, I would like to take a look at these comments on "Sashin Conic Algebra" in more peaceful times!

I suspect the Hausa subjugated by Don Fodio know Timbuktu et al. to be recognized as one of the focal points for their spiritual national resurrection.

Today's school leavers may have a vague idea of conic sections that they cannot classify themselves. It is the quadratic formula, also called the midnight formula.

Some say it's called midnight formula because it's so important that students can recite it even if you wake them up at midnight. According to a legend (which I like much better as an explanation) it was a high school director who let his students scream out the midnight formula during a midnight torch parade.

The appreciation of conic sections in the educational ideal of the 19th century becomes visible. Irritating for everyone who has suffered uninspiring school and does not see the relevance.

In fact, one of the conic sections - the parabola - is the first, simplest form for POLYNOME (pls don't mix up with polymers or polyps). After a Mr. Descartes introduced the Cartesian coordinates, the way was clear for the analytical treatment of polynomials. Polynomials are now a workhorse in mathematical analysis and in the numerics of computer science.

For example, your emigrated doctors (because they cannot make a living in Nigeria) use imaging machines that use algorithms with polynomials that are billions of times over.

Welcome to MODERN ERA!

Our walk through the geometric phenomenology of DOT in the circle has now led us to the ancient Greeks, logical conclusions and conic sections and from there back - via Timbuktu - and the medical exodus into modern times with mathematics and computer science.

And now? So let's turn our gaze to modernity. Regarding how the modern could come to the DOT (of course it is well known that Biafra was already very modern before the genocide. But too much has fallen apart and needs to be rebuilt).

In order to catch a touch of the elegance of the modern age, it is advisable to modify your favoured view of Jerusalem. Makes a double star separation. If you look closely, you will see that it is actually not one star, but two. Another star sparkles next to the star Jerusalem: It is Athens. The Greek way of thinking. Focus on it.

Nothing against monotheisms, but you've just had enough of it. You don't need any more of the Middle Eastern monotheistic book religions, from any of the three (they are only Mainland African in so far as they were inspired by Akhenaten).

Your conflict is not that between different Middle Eastern monotheisms. Jihad's Wahhabism is also just a front face for the ethnic invasion. Your churches do not help you assert yourself. The caliphate uses the churches in its own way. To appease. Later as the tax substrate jizyah) of the finally subjugated unbelievers.

So direct your gaze to Athens to harness the fruits of the European history of ideas and to adopt the really helpful modes of being. Do this viewing direction as an autonomous being, from your position, the DOT. Assimilate the best of Athens with the best of the DOT (Omenala).

Perhaps this outlook is one of the meanings of the DOT.

I think the DOT is prototypical (or even archetypal), in crumbling Nigeria there is not just one DOT, but quite a few.

I think I will soon present the picture of the many DOTS in Nigeria as a map in a next post.

In any case: the DOT is not an insignificant "something". On the contrary, the DOT alone means the world. The many DOTS are the starry sky.

So, now I need a coffee and a siesta (or rather, in reverse order).

[01:46, 20.4.2022] ::: 'Genocide Enabler' IGP Usman Baba & Ors Must Not Be Allowed To Turn Eastern Nigeria Into Society Of Beasts & Barbarians

... Coalition of 44 Eastern Rights CSOs & Intellectuals

Turning The East Into Society Of Beasts & Barbarians

Enugu-Nigeria, May 25, 2021: The Coalition of 44 Eastern Nigerian Rights CSOs and Intellectuals has observed with deep shock, sadness and dismay the frightening moves by the Acting Inspector General of Police, Usman Alkali Baba and the authorities of the Nigerian Army and other branches of the Armed Forces to turn Eastern Nigeria (Southeast and South-south Regions) into society of beasts and barbarians. The recent public utterances of the Attorney General of the Federation, Abubakar Malami, SAN, are also clear and additional indication that the present Government of Nigeria has designated the two regions as "hatefully and religiously a must crush". In other words, it appears to us that the two regions are hated and targeted on religious ground and marked for violent conquest and subjugation. The Coalition therefore makes bold to say that it will not allow the Acting IGP and the country's Armed Forces to turn Eastern Nigeria into society of beasts and barbarians.

Nigeria Governed As 'Islamic Republic' Since 2015

Members of the Coalition have followed the challenges to public security in the country and its six geopolitical zones as well as approaches to same adopted by the present Federal Government and we are deeply shocked and dismayed at how things have played out. The best way to understand the Government of Nigeria's responses to insecurity is by taking a critical look at the ethnic and religious composition of the country's 40 top security, defense, policing and justice executive positions and chairmen of their legislative oversights. A look at the 40 top posts clearly shows that 85%, if not 90% of same are Muslim controlled. In an evaluation of several studies relating to the above, done by the Coalition, it was found that Nigeria has since mid 2015 been governed as "Islamic Republic" and Government's responses to security and safety of lives and properties are toeing the same line including imbalanced composition of the officer corps and other ranks of the country's Armed Forces (i.e. Captain to Major General in the Army and their equivalents in other branches of the Armed Forces as well as SP to AIG in the Police and their equivalents in Paramilitaries and Intelligence Services). The same goes with their promotions and postings.

Generally speaking, the country's present security forces are 80% Muslim controlled and in responses to security of lives and properties, Muslims and their regions are given more attention while the rest receive acutely less attention. Same thing goes with office appointments and contract awards as well as citizens' treatment and recognition before the law and enforcement of same. It has become a common knowledge and order of the day for citizens of non Muslim faith such as Christians of Eastern Nigeria to be routinely made to undergo ethnic profiling and cleansing by the country's Muslim dominated security forces. This is to the extent that in the Muslim held areas of the North, citizens including criminals are regularly treated as sacred cows whereas in the Christian held South and Northern parts, citizens are hatefully degraded and falsely or criminally labeled. This is worsened by deliberate flooding and takeover of key military and other security formations in Southeast and South-south by senior Muslim security officers.

Recent research reports done by our key Coalition member, Intersociety also lent credence to the facts above; to the extent that 90% of key military formations and 70%-80% of their police, intelligence service and paramilitary counterparts in Southeast and South-south as well as in Benue and Kogi States are headed by senior Muslim security officers and non Muslim others from Northern Nigeria. The Coalition is therefore sensing and fearing that Eastern Nigeria is remotely designated by the Government of Nigeria and its security forces and justice agency as “a major threat to widely suspected state jihad project” and therefore must be crushed under the cover of “anti ESN/IPOB operations”. Till today, Nigerian Government has failed to credibly prove that “IPOB/ESN” carried out the recent attacks in the two regions with fresh facts emerging and discrediting the Government’s claims. The Government of Imo State, for instance, has stated that “70% of over 400 citizens arrested over recent mayhem in the State are not Igbo or citizens of the two regions”; meaning that the attackers are likely linked to the Government or jihadists imported into the two regions. We also have reason to circumstantially believe that the Nigerian Government sees “ESN” as a major threat to its clandestine and policy support for jihadist activities of the Jihadist Fulani Herdsmen in the two regions including forceful occupation of farmlands, bushes and forests and mass killings, abduction, rape and killing of Christian women or their forceful marriage and conversion to Islam.

IGP Usman Baba’s Savagely & Genocidal Comments

Going by the above, therefore, the Coalition is not surprised at the recent uncultured, frightening and genocidal comments and incitement by the Acting Inspector General of Police, Alkali Baba Usman at the flag off of the so called “Operation Restore Peace” held in Enugu (on 18th May 2021) and Port Harcourt (on 19th May 2021). Going by unprintable things said by the Acting IGP including open threat and authorization of genocide against Christians of Eastern Nigeria, the Coalition wishes to conclude that such morally disreputable and savagely comments are literally jihad and ethnic cleansing enabler and therefore must not be taken for granted. The media link to the legally abhorrent and morally damning comments of the Acting IGP is attached here:

https://punchng.com/ig-declares-war-on-biafran-agitators-criminal-elements/?utm_term=Autofeed&utm_medium=Social&utm_source=Facebook&fbclid=IwAR3XoXc8-ijKZqhES1mdB0u8SG0hmQOF50x962JDutj4MkS_JkC1q3QLwVA#Echobox=1621388986

The IGP Is Genocide Enabler

The Coalition hereby designates the Acting Inspector General of Police as “Genocide Enabler”. He has also been blacklisted in the non charlatanistic Human Rights Community and soonest we shall take further steps to forward his name to relevant international human rights, diplomatic and intergovernmental quarters for their records and needful actions. The man “Usman Alkali Baba”, by his recent savagely comments; is a genocide enabler born in Geidam (newest Boko Haram hometown) in Yobe State on 1st March 1963 and was enlisted into the Nigeria Police Force on 15th March 1988 with enlistment number AP30462. He earned a degree in political science and became AIG on 12th July 2016 and Acting IGP on 6th April 2021 and will statutorily retire by 1st March 2023 or next 22 months

Strongly Oppose Unlawful Violence By State & Non State Actors

It must be clearly and boldly stated that the Coalition is in strong condemnation of recent attacks on security personnel and target and destruction of key government facilities in Nigeria including Southeast and South-south and Muslim areas of Northern Nigeria; whether done by non state actors or clandestinely planted state actors or state backed or procured non state actors especially the imported jihadists in the two regions. Assuming, without conceding that such attacks are the handiwork of ‘unknown gunmen linked to a cross section of the Southeast and South-south population’ as a revenge against immediate past unaddressed atrocities by the country’s Muslim dominated security agencies against defenseless civilian populations in the two regions, resort to violent self help and Government’s reprisals is morally unjustifiable and condemnable.

Lives Of Defenseless Citizens Are Not Inferior To Lives Of Security Personnel

We strongly condemn a situation whereby it looks as if it is only the lives and safety of security personnel that matter in the country especially in Eastern Nigeria with little or no Government attention or priority given to killing, maiming and abduction of unarmed and defenseless citizens. The Government's unwillingness and inability in this regard include blanket protection and cover for the perpetrators; totality of which clearly runs contrary to essential reason why Government and security agencies were created or put in place. We are also strongly opposed to grossly lopsided citizens' security and protection arrangements by the present Government of Nigeria; arrangements widely perceived to favor Muslims of the North and the Southwest especially the Muslim Fulani population and hostile to Christians of the South and the North.

It Is Jungle Justice Security In Christian Eastern Nigeria

It also saddens our heart that the Acting Inspector General of Police and the authorities of the Armed Forces particularly the Nigerian Army have deliberately and hatefully abandoned rule of law, due process and human rights and humanitarian obligations or commitments clearly outlined in the 1999 Constitution and the country's signed and ratified or domesticated rights treaties (treaty laws) and resorted to use of jungle justice in the East such as transfer of criminal responsibility, killing of uninvolved or innocent citizens at will and at sight and falsely labeling them "IPOB/ESN members". These they further do by embarking on mass murder and abduction and indiscriminate custodial killings as well as indiscriminate torture and disappearances. They have even gone to the extent of issuing and using 'instant death' on any unarmed and defenseless citizen showing support for self determination activities of the pro Biafra movements or anyone found wearing or using their insignia or symbol including flag, bangle, faze cap, T-shirt, necklace, etc; as well as adherents of the Jewish religion and the African Instituted Churches.

It is Pampering, Amnesty & State Cover Security In Muslim Northern Nigeria

Contrarily, in the North, same security chiefs are routinely seen dinning and winning with jihadist terrorists or jihadist bandits as well as pampering them or taking group photos with those of them wielding AK-47s or offering them amnesty and supervising ransom payments to them, etc. From several studies evaluated by the Coalition, more security personnel are killed by Muslim jihadists in the North than in the East. In the recent report by the US based Global Rights, Nigeria lost 340 security personnel to armed violent attacks across the country from January to April 2021, and it was further observed that over 200 of the security personnel were killed in the North alone. These did not include hundreds of victims of widely suspected ethnically and religiously motivated in-service military killings. In the same North, Islamic Jihadists have raided and taken over several government facilities and properties including recently reported invasion and takeover of military lands in Niger State.

Coalition Formed To Document And Expose Genocidal Operations In The East

This Coalition was therefore formed for purpose of monitoring, documenting and exposing gross rights abuses and violations across the East (S/S and S/E), perpetrated and perpetuated by violent state and non state actors as well identifying and having their perpetrators exposed, blacklisted and sanctioned locally and internationally. The security chiefs deployed to the East still have the golden opportunity of not getting involved in grisly rights violations and abuses. The Coalition also remains strongly opposed to flooding of the East with senior military, police and intelligence officers of Muslim extraction. We can only support competent, intelligence base and human rights compliant security operations anywhere in the country including the East. The ongoing joint military and police operations in the East are therefore totally rejected on account of the fact that they are genocide enabler and human rights abusive in large scale including extrajudicial killings, abductions and air bombardments, etc targeted at harming defenseless and unarmed civilian populations in the two regions.

Eastern Communities Attacked By Military & Police

Among the Eastern communities physically and psychologically targeted and attacked in January 2021 by soldiers of the Nigerian Army, Air Force and the Nigeria Police Force are communities of Ubokoro-Atta, Okporo, Uda Orsuihiteukwa and Okwudor and others located in Orlu, Njaba, Oru East and Orsu Local Government Areas in Imo State and Orsumoghu, Lilu, Ukpok, Unubi, etc in Ihiala and Nnewi South Local Government Areas of Anambra State. Others raided and attacked in April 2021 include Ohaji, Osu, Agwa and Izombe, etc in Ohaji/Egbema Local Government Area of Imo State and between April and this month of May 2021, Onicha-Igboeze Community and neighboring others in Ebonyi State and Etche, Iriebe and Obigbo Communities as well as Port Harcourt and Borokiri in Rivers State and several others in Akwa Ibom and Cross River States have come under heavy military and police attacks including killings and late night abduction of dozens of defenseless citizens who have been disappeared without traces till date. Few days ago, there were reports of resumption of military air bombardments and ground troops' killings and abductions in the Communities of Amuzi and Odenkwume and other neighboring communities in Ihite/Uboma Local Government Area as well as Arondizogu and neighboring others in Ideato North Local Government Area, all in Imo State. Urban areas in the East are also not spared and they include Owerri, Orlu, Aba, Ohafia, Onitsha, Nnewi and their environs, etc. In those areas, hundreds of unarmed and defenseless citizens have been abducted and disappeared till date and dozens killed extra-judicially in custody and at sight. According to Intersociety, "the operatives of Nigerian Army, Navy and Police drafted in the Southeast and South-south since January 2021 have extra-judicially killed no fewer than 50-60 unarmed citizens and arrested or abducted between 1500 and 2000 others, out of which the whereabouts of over 500 have remained unaccounted for till date. They are likely to have been shot and killed or tortured to death in custody or captivity". There are also no concretely available pieces of evidence showing that the abducted or the arrested are being tried in Court.

Eastern Governors Must Protect Their Citizens Or Be Held Accountable

The Coalition strongly reminds the Eastern Gobs particularly Gobs of Imo, Ebonyi, Abia, Rivers, Delta, Akwa Ibom, Cross River, Enugu and Anambra States that they are primarily responsible for the security of lives and properties in their various States including accountability to the residents of their States over the conduct and actions of the drafted security forces. They are also reminded not to forget that the Coalition, its international partners and the international community will hold them accountable alongside the 'Genocide Enabler' Acting Inspector General of Police and all police and military commanders posted to the two region and those in charge of their High Commands. They must account for all human rights abuses including crimes against humanity or 'war crimes' and other internationally prohibited acts perpetrated by Nigerian government security forces under their watch. The Governors must rise to the occasion by ensuring that security, safety and rights of the citizens under their care and watch, especially the defenseless, unarmed and law abiding are protected all the time without excuses.

How To Document & Report Human Rights Abuses In The East

The Coalition hereby appeals to community/town union, church and CBO leaders and activists and human rights compliant security operatives, media and rights activists across the East to take up the humanist responsibility of monitoring, documenting and reporting the atrocious conducts of the Nigerian security forces particularly soldiers of the Nigerian Army and personnel of the Nigeria Police Force and state backed jihadist Fulani Herdsmen in their areas. These include late night invasion of dwelling houses or destruction or burning of same and associated properties; indiscriminate arrest of unarmed and defenseless citizens as well as shooting, wounding, killing, abduction or disappearing them. Others are sexual violence against women by security forces or jihadist Fulani Herdsmen such as abducting and raping them or raping them to death and disappearing their slain bodies. Victims' basic information needed include full name, gender, age, marital status, occupation, village, community, local government and state of origin; time of the rights violation and location of same and those or names of security personnel/agencies that perpetrated the rights abuses or violations. Verified videos and photos can also be included. Such rights abuse information can be sent on behalf of this Coalition to: info@intersociety-ng.org or to the following WhatsApp links: +2348174090052 or +2348035372962. Protection of senders' identities is ultimately assured.
